DONLIN SOLD TO BOSTON

John J. McGraw Parts with the Former Captain of Giants.

Pittsburg, Aug. 1.—Mike Donlin, one time captain and hard hitting outfielder of the New York Giants, who reported recently after an absence of two years, was sold here to-night to the Boston club of the National League. The price was not stated, and no other player was obtained by New York in exchange.

This announcement was made after a conference here to-night between William Hepburn Russell and John J. McGraw.

TIGERS BALK ATHLETICS

Ty Cobb Helps Detroit Pile Up Runs by Hard Hitting.

Philadelphia, Aug. 1.—The Detroit Tigers hit the ball hard here to-day, piling up seventeen hits, for a total of thirty-one bases, and winning by a score of 15 to 6. The visitors landed on Coombs for nine hits, which included a double, three triples and a home run, and drove him off the rubber in the second inning. Martin, who succeeded Coombs, also was hit hard. Danforth, a "southpaw," formerly of Baker College, Texas, pitched the ninth inning in good style.

Ray Caldwell was the bright and shining luminary of the first contest, and after giving Ed Walsh one of the prettiest flights of his career he slammed out a single in the ninth inning, with two strikes called, and scored the winning run for the Yankees. It was a close squeak, but Ray was there with the pinch hit and prevented Walsh celebrating his third victory in one series over the New York nine. Caldwell pitched a brilliant game from start to finish, allowing the White Sox only seven scattered hits. He weakened slightly toward the end, and the visitors were able to the score—a pass, a triple by McIntyre and a scratch hit through Gardner, scoring two runs in the ninth. But Caldwell struck out the mighty "Ping" Bodie, and Zeller, after making the scratch hit which brought McIntyre home, died stealing.

Walsh pitched fine ball all through the game and kept the ten hits which he allowed well scattered. The heavy hitting of Charlie Hemphill and Cree, however, proved a serious headache, Kuhlounding out a home run in the sixth frame.

Ford captured the second game without having to extend himself. He allowed nine hits, but Hemphill alone saved the day.

From the bunt-out with two runs in the fourth inning, with Ford on base, "Young Cy" Young, his opponent, was hit hard and did not receive the best of support.

Dougherty batted for Young in the seventh inning, and Howlik, the young soft ball twirler, finished out the game.

The feature of the second game was the blazing of Magner, the former Cornell captain, at short. Hartzell was put off the field for the day in the first encounter for disputes with Mullins and in the second Chase moved Knight over to third, putting Channer at short. The youngster played such a whirlwind game that it is hard to see how he can be kept on the bench. He accepted seven chances, many of them of the hardest kind, without an error. From his appearance yesterday, it would seem that another Eddie Collins had been recruited from the ranks of the collegians. On his first trip to the plate Magner found runners on second and third, with two out, but he used his short, chunky little bat to good purpose and poked the ball for a clean hit to centre field, bringing both runners home.

The Yankees scored their third run in the fourth inning. Chase was easy at the short, but Hemphill scratched a hit through the box and Cree's double to right field brought Charlie home. Hartzell and Knight popped up flies. There were two out in the sixth when Hemphill hit the ball around the corner of the bleachers for a home run. Cree followed with a single to left, and took third when Walsh threw to the bleachers to catch him napping. He scored on Hartzell's single through Lord. Knight also got a hit past third, but Jack was cut when Gardner's grounder hit him on the shin.

Knight also got a hit past third, but Jack was cut when Gardner's grounder hit him on the shin.

The White Sox failed to score until the eighth. Tannehill led off with a double to left and reached the plate on a couple of outs. With one gone in the ninth, Chicago started a rally which tied the score. Callahan walked and scored on McIntyre's triple to right. Although Caldwell struck out the mighty "Ping" Bodie, Zeller homered a single of Gardner's shiny red McIntyre crossed the plate. Zeider was out.

The ninth inning was a tempestuous one and Ed Walsh came very near pulling out safely. Hartzell beat out a hit to Tannehill, and Knight was hit. Gardner attempted a sacrifice, but Walsh made a brilliant play, throwing to Lord and forcing Hartzell at third. Roy prodded being called out and was put off the field by Mullin, as was Daniels, who chimed in on the debate. Blair went out. Walsh to Zeller, Caldwell, with two strikes on him, singled to left, scoring Knight and winning the game.

The Yankees made a brave beginning in the second game, scoring three runs in the first inning. Wolter walked, and Chase rapped one hot for Lord to handle; Hemphill struck out, and Wolter was doubled trying to steal third. Payne to Lord. It looked as though Young was going to pull out safely, but Chase stole second and scored on Cree's single off second. Cree went to third on a passed ball and Knight walked, stealing second unassisted. Maguire's timely hit to centre brought both runners home. The Cornelian struck out, but overall third on Gardner's grounder to Tannehill, being cut. Tannehill to Lord to Payne.

In the fifth Harry Lord knocked down a terrific smash by Chase, but couldn't get the runner at first. Charlie Hemphill kept up his good stick work by tripling to left, scoring Hall. Cree's double brought Hemphill home. Knight struck out, and Wagner lifted to Kreitz, who replaced Payne being held the bat after the latter had caught a foul tip on his finger. Cree stole third and Gardner walked. Carl attempted a delayed steal, but was cut at second, Kreitz to Young to Tannehill.

Harged with the Sox helped Chase's men to two more runs in the sixth. Sweeney doubled to centre, Ford sacrificed and Wolter singled through short, scoring Ed Young. Caught Wolter sleeping off post, but Zeller's throw went through Tannehill to left field and Wolter scored. In the eighth Wolter walked and went clear to third when Chase went out. Howlik to Zeller, Hemphill hit to McConnell and Wolter was safe on a play to the plate.

The Sox nearly battered around in the fourth, but tallied only two runs. Lord beat out a scratch hit through the Sox and crossed the plate when Callahan buried the ball in the environs of the score board for a home run. McIntyre walked, Bodie singled and Zeller sacrificed. Tannehill, however, hit to Maguire and Matty was thrown out at the plate. Payne was purposefully passed, filling the bases and Wolter captured Young's fly.
